

Sarah Yourgrau

Sarah Yourgrau is a two-time Emmy award-winning storyteller, pioneering social anthropologist, and the visionary force behind Common Ground Studios, a production company dedicated to the power of uplifting storytelling. With over a decade of diverse media experience, ranging from Saturday Night Live to the United Nations and Netflix, she stands out as a trailblazer at the intersection of social impact and entertaining storytelling.

Renowned for her Emmy-winning series 'Returning the Favor,' which shines a spotlight on changemakers and community leaders across America, Sarah excels in bridging seemingly disparate subcultures, communities, and ideas. Her unique ability to inspire tactical solutions and foster cross-cultural collaborations is paving the way for a brighter future.

As a keynote speaker, Sarah brings a wealth of knowledge and an inspiring perspective on the transformative potential of storytelling to drive positive social change.

